Chicago Votes
DePaul University, Graduate
Special Education, Teacher

A New Jersey native, Kiah graduated from DePaul University in Chicago, IL with her degree in Community Psychology and African & Black Diaspora Studies. While at school, she co-founded a nonpartisan social justice organization, served as President for a Black Femme Empowerment group, and chartered the Upsilon Upsilon Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Inc.

After graduating from college, she was recruited by Teach For America and served as a 9th and 10th grade special education teacher on Chicago's West Side - North Lawndale community. She later decided to leave the program, and is currently working for a nonpartisan nonprofit entitled Chicago Votes, where her work is rooted in fighting voting disenfranchisement against the incarcerated and systemically silenced.

Ms. Sandler is a long-time friend of SGAP Leaders, and we welcome her timely dialogue on the eve of our presidential election.

SGAP Leaders

We engage and empower the youth of our generation to think critically about the real world, environmental and societal problems of our time, and to devise creative, community-based solutions to tackle them, so that they may become change agents in their communities and in turn, the world.
